Equality Impact Assessments (EIA)

Why do an EIA?

Local government as a service provider and as an employer must meet its statutory equality responsibilities, which cover all of the equality strands, these being age, disability, gender, race, religion/belief and sexual orientation. We must promote equality of opportunity among the diverse range of Leicester residents and service users, as well as proactively tackle discrimination that negatively impacts on the lives of people within the city.

If service providers do not take account of people’s various ‘equalities’ needs, as listed below, the way they provide information and services to people could work against the people they aim to serve. The impact on the service will be low user take up and low levels of customer satisfaction.

The purpose of the equality impact assessment is to assess whether there are any barriers in place that prevent people using a service or benefitting from a policy. The assessment helps you identify positive and negative impacts affecting service users based on the equality strands below. It also helps you identify any organisational barriers unintentionally affecting users and enable you to identify action that needs to be taken to address adverse issues. The Equality Standard for Local Government enables us to track how well we are doing in demonstrating that the Council embodies good equalities practice and performance.

The equality impact assessment is also an opportunity for you to think about the role you and your service play in promoting equality and delivering equality outcomes, also include equality outcomes that are already in place for your service. An equality impact assessment is based on evidence and not assumptions.

Equality ‘strands’

- Gender (access to services, work life balance, needs of carers)
- Race (BME issues, language needs and cultural/social traditions)
- Age (the needs of young and old people compared to the rest of the population)
- Disability (individual needs across a variety of disabilities and wider issues within society)
- Religion or belief (influence on access to services and workforce issues)
- Sexual orientation (discrimination faced by lesbian, gay and bisexual people).
How often do you carry out an EIA on your service/policy?
All department management teams have set out a schedule of EIAs for their services and key policies.

An EIA is NOT a one-off activity. The population of Leicester is constantly changing and many of our services change regularly to keep up with changing service demands: generated by population changes or legal changes by the Government affecting provision.

When you are preparing for any changes to your service, you should undertake an EIA with that change in mind.

When you are proposing a new policy, you should undertake an EIA testing your assumptions about the new policy. Once the policy is being implemented, carry out another EIA to see if there are any unforeseen equalities impacts.

Every year as you prepare your service plan, you should review the past year’s user take up against the equality strands, to determine whether you are managing to meet this diversity of need. You should assess how well you are doing in meeting your equality outcomes. Any required changes should be picked up in your service plan. The service plan will be the main document against which the Council will assess how well we are doing in providing equality outcomes for the people of Leicester.

What is an EIA?
An equality impact assessment enables you to identify whether your service or policy discriminates against any individuals or groups categorised by the six equality streams. The assessment framework helps you identify positive and negative impacts that your service or policy may have on its intended users. It also helps you identify any organisational barriers unintentionally limiting access to users and enables you to identify action that needs to be taken to address adverse issues.

Legal Requirements:
Our legal statutory requirements are as follows:
Race Relations Act 1976, Amendment Act 2000
Disability Discrimination Acts 1995 and 2005
Equal Pay Act 1970
Sex Discrimination Act 1975, Amendment 2005
Equality Act 2006, which introduces Gender Duty
Gender Recognition Act 2004
Employment Equality Religion & Belief and Sexual Orientation Regulations 2003
Equality Act Religion & Belief and Sexual Orientation Regulations 2007
Employment Equality Age Regulations 2006
Civil Partnership Act 2005
Assess the relevance

The starting point for an Equality Impact Assessment is to assess the equality impact on your particular service, function or policy and ensure that this is proportionate to the relevance of equality for your EIA area.

Proportionality: the weight given to equality strands should be proportionate to its relevance to a particular function. This may mean giving greater consideration and resources to functions/policies that have most effect on the public or employees of the council.

Relevance: Certain equality strands will be more relevant to some functions than others.

When thinking of the above look at those functions/services/policies, which have an impact on the delivery of front line services or actual front line services themselves, as well as those, which form the core business for departments and divisions.

Also are there any functions/services/policies, where service problems have been identified around equalities, areas of public concern around how our services are provided and low take up.

Also planned service changes, such as new policy development, review of existing policies and reorganisation of service(s).

Your EIA outcomes need to be fed into your service plan, and updated on an annual basis.
In order for an Equality Impact Assessment to be carried out effectively, an assessment team of between 4-6 people needs to be set up, with members having relevant knowledge/experience of the particular area or those who can contribute effectively.

Assessment team members can consist of front line staff, managers, service users, contractors/partners, etc.

Stage 1: Scope the Terms of Reference

The first stage of beginning the EIA is to reflect on the current service/function or policy and its impact on the six equality strands. It will be helpful to have an initial ‘mind mapping’ session with review team colleagues to establish the full extent of equality and diversity issues that will help in informing the terms of reference for the actual EIA.

Equality and diversity issues

<tr>
<th>What are the equality and diversity issues in relation to the service, function or policy?</th>
<th>Age: Some older people on pensions will be on lower incomes than the average household, so that increase in rent and in some cases service charges may cause financial problems. The service needs to ensure that people are able to access money/debt advice where necessary. For most people the increase in rent and service charges is covered by housing benefit and therefore the increase will have no impact on them. Tenants need to be referred to support agencies where appropriate, to enable them to maintain their tenancies and standards of health and well-being.</th> to support agencies where appropriate, to enable them to maintain their tenancies and standards of health and well-being.

Race: Some BME households are on low incomes, and an increase in rent and service charges may cause financial difficulties. Information on the increase needs to be accessible and communicated to people in community languages as appropriate. The service needs to ensure that people are able to access money/ debt advice where it is required. For most people the increase in rent and service charges is covered by housing benefit and therefore the increase will have no impact on them. Tenants need to be referred to support agencies where appropriate to enable them to maintain their tenancies and standards of health and well-being. The ethnic composition of tenants will need to be identified.

Religion/Belief: The service could contact local places of worship to provide information about the increase and information about who to contact for financial advice and assistance. For most people the increase in rent and service charges is covered by housing benefit and therefore the increase will have no impact on them. Services need to be culturally appropriate and sensitive to religious requirements.

Sexual Orientation: Ensure information is available at the Lesbian Gay Bisexual and Transgender (LGBT) Centre about the increase and where to get money/ debt advice. Some LGBT households may be on low incomes. The service needs to ensure that people are able to access money/ debt advice where people need it. For most people the increase in rent and service charges is covered by housing benefit and therefore the increase will have no impact on them. Tenants need to be referred to support agencies where appropriate to enable them to maintain their tenancies and standards of health and well-being.

For the majority of people on housing benefits the increase in rent and service charges will have no impact as it will be covered by the benefit. Households that will be affected detrimentally are those that are working and are on low incomes and who do not qualify for benefits.

| Terms of reference/ scope for the EIA | This assessment is on the proposals outlined in the Housing Revenue Account – Budget 2009/10 report. This assessment is on the proposals to increase the rents on council properties by an average of 5.9% and to increase the service charges, where applicable, by 5.5%.

The rents are set using a prescribed government formula, which the council has no discretion or control over. The service charges are determined by the Council and there is discretion in this area although the government does suggest that the increase be 0.5% above the inflation rate as measured by the Retail Price Index. Leicester City Council has followed the government formula and guidelines in coming up with the proposed increase in rent and service charges.

This assessment will cover all six equality strands and identify how people will be affected by the increases proposed.

Housing management will be involved in this EIA and made aware of any recommendations resulting from this assessment. |
Stage 2: Preliminary Assessment

Part 1:
In order to complete the table below, it may be useful to carry out a quick audit of current data or information, for instance from:
- Value for Money.
- Inspections.
- Demographic data, census information.
- Equality profile of clients: information on which groups use/receive service and which don’t but may wish to do so, etc.
- Consultation information, complaints, feedback, and research: what do different groups think of the service.
- Views of front line staff, stakeholders and key partners.

Initial equality considerations

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>What are the equality aims/objectives for the service or policy?</th>
<th>The equality aims of the Housing Revenue Account link into the departmental equality aims, which are to ensure we comply with the requirements of the Equality Standard. Various service areas have also outlined their commitment to meet the Diversity Key Lines of Enquiry, which have been produced by the Audit Commission. These are:</th>

| - Ensuring service user profile is monitored by equality strands.
- Analysing monitoring information and using it to shape more appropriate services.
- Ensuring information is available in a range of languages and formats as required.
- Working towards a representative workforce and service take up.
- Service adheres to departmental and corporate equality policies.
- Ensure service complies with the Commission for Racial Equality Code of Practice in Rented Housing. |

| What are the current equality targets/indicators for the service or policy? | As above |
What equality outcome for your service or policy are you working towards?

To ensure that the decision to increase rent and service charges does not discriminate against any particular groups of service users.

Are there any equality barriers for your service or policy?

Some of the potential barriers as a result of increasing rent and service charges may relate to:
- Customer access to information about the changes
- How information is communicated to users
- The ease of use of information provided
- Availability in different language formats
- Information provided on rights and entitlements
- Information on which agencies can help with money/debt advice (Promotion of this to tenants)
- Physical access to services
- Monitoring of potential adverse impact on particular groups

Stage 3: Monitoring

</tr>
<tr>
<td>What other monitoring information do you collect on service users/staff?</td>
<td>The equality profile of the tenants is monitored. Information on service charges is monitored. Information on who receives Housing Benefit is monitored.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
There are 25638 Council tenants, with an equality profile as follows:

- 32% are over 60 years old
- 60% are female.
- 28% of tenants whose ethnicity is known are from BME backgrounds.

Approximately 80% of tenants receive housing benefit which covers the rent. All service charges subject to the increase proposed in the HRA report are covered by housing benefit too if the tenant is eligible for benefit.

The analysis of HRA service charges show that:

- 6814 properties are subject to a service charge for television services
- 482 properties are subject to a service charge for concierge services
- 2801 properties are subject to a service charge for door entry systems
- 4917 properties are subject to a service charge for communal cleaning
- 7609 properties are subject to a service charge for way lighting
- 2943 properties have miscellaneous service charges

Many properties have more than one service charge. 46% of the service charges are for properties in the centre area and this is where there is a larger concentration of tenants from BME backgrounds.

Stage 4: Consultation

Consultation will be an ongoing process throughout an EIA and will involve your colleagues from the outset. In developing your views on the service, function or policy you should also involve a number of stakeholders (both internal and external) including people who might appropriate challenge the views you have developed.

It is a legal requirement that consultation takes place with appropriate stakeholders as part of the EIA process, to gain their perspectives on the work that this being undertaken and the services delivered. To meet the race and gender duties, it is necessary to consult with interest groups. A requirement of the disability duty is that disabled people are directly engaged in the EIA process.

<td>Have you involved staff groups, other members of staff, and other council departments in your assessment? Please list those you have involved, as well as dates, etc.</td>
<td>Staff from a number of divisions from the Adults and Housing Department have been involved in this assessment. December 08</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Have you involved your Departmental Equality Officer and/or Departmental Equality Group/Forum?</td>

<td>---------------------------------------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>What consultation have you carried out with service users/stakeholders/partners to inform this EIA?  What problems did users/stakeholders/partners raise that need to be addressed to improve your service/policy?</td>
<td>Housing Management has now set up strategic meetings with tenants on a quarterly basis called Performance Panel Meetings. Area offices hold quarterly tenant and leaseholder forum meetings. These are used to pick up local issues on estates and identify where initiatives need to be financed. All estates have regular inspections. All offices have one–off consultation exercises to find out the needs of tenants. The recommendations included in the report were discussed and agreed with tenant’s representatives at the Housing Performance Panel. Minutes from Performance Panel Meetings. Notes from area offices meetings with tenants. Reports from estate inspections.</td>
<tr>
<td>How does the service impact on your users/stakeholders/partners?</td>
<td>The decision to increase rent and service charges will not impact on most council tenants who are on Housing Benefit. Households where tenants are working and receiving a low wage will be impacted by the increase and for some it may cause financial difficulties. However they may, as a result of the change in their circumstances now qualify for Housing and/or other benefits.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>What positive impacts have been identified?</td>
<td>The Housing Revenue Account will continue to finance the delivery of high quality services to Council tenants.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>What negative impacts have been identified?</td>
<td>The negative impact is that households on low wages who do not qualify for Housing Benefit may face problems in paying the increase in rent and service charges. This is irrespective of which equality groups they belong to.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Organisational Barriers

| Are there any potential organisational barriers in place that could adversely affect any of your users? If yes, what are they? | Some of the potential barriers as a result of the proposed charges may relate to:
- Customer access to information about the changes
- How information is communicated to users
- The ease of use of information provided
- Availability in different language formats
- Information provided on rights and entitlements
- Information on which agencies can help with money/debt advice (Promotion of this to tenants)
- Physical access to services
- Monitoring of potential adverse impact on particular groups |

Housing offices and venues used for consultation events need to be physically accessible. The service needs to ensure that people are able to access money/debt advice where people need it. Information on the increase in charges needs to be accessible and communicated to people in community languages as appropriate. The service needs to ensure that people are able to access money/debt advice where it is required. Tenants need to be referred to support agencies where appropriate to enable them to maintain their tenancies and standards of health and well being.

Religion/Belief: The service needs to contact local places of worship and provide information about the increase and information about who to contact for financial advice and assistance. The decision to increase rent and service charges will cause financial problems for some people if they do not receive Housing Benefit. Services need to be culturally appropriate and sensitive to religious requirements. Surgeries and advice sessions for tenants need to be held on days and times that do not conflict with times for prayer.

Sexual Orientation: Ensure information is available at the Lesbian Gay Bisexual and Transgender (LGBT) Centre about the increase and where to get money/debt advice. Some LGBT households may be on low incomes. The decision to increase rent and service charges will cause financial problems for some people if they do not receive Housing Benefit. The service needs to ensure that people are able to access money/debt advice when and where people need it. Tenants need to be referred to support agencies where appropriate to enable them to maintain their tenancies and standards of health and well being. Services need to be LGBT friendly and staff need to have had awareness training. People need to feel they are in a safe environment if they approach the service for assistance.

Recommendations

What are your proposed recommendations for the equality strands?

The service needs to ensure that information about the increase in rent and service charges and the advice and assistance that is available is accessible to all the tenants.

Housing Management to monitor arrears, non-payment and affordability issues with tenants and intervene where necessary to provide assistance.

What are your proposed recommendations for other areas?

Next Steps:

Once an EIA has been completed, this is the start of an ongoing process and the following actions need to be taken:

EIA Outcomes:
The EIA should clearly state what the equality outcomes will be for the service/function or policy, and how these will be achieved, and success measured.

Completed EIAs:
- The lead officer should agree the completed EIA with the review team.
- The lead officer needs to contact the Departmental Equality Officer for feedback, and the necessary amendments made.
- The final completed EIA to be tabled at DMT/SMT and to be agreed.
- The final EIA also needs to be shared with relevant partners/stakeholders/service users, especially those involved in the EIA consultation.
- The EIA actions need to be included in the relevant service plan(s) and be part of the service planning process.

Report summary:
- The lead officer needs to complete the report summary and forward this to the Departmental Equality Officer and this will then be published via the internet and insite, in order to meet out statutory obligations.

Evaluation/feedback form:
- This form needs to be completed by the review team and lead officer and gives those involved in the EIA process an opportunity to provide their feedback/views, etc, on the whole process.

Monitoring/Review/Evaluation of EIA
The EIA will be monitored and updated via the action plan on an annual basis. The EIA lead officer will be responsible for providing the relevant information and this needs to be concise and detailed. Reports will be produced for Directorate/DMT/SMT and Departmental Equality Groups/Forums, detailing progress to date and any barriers/issues being identified.
